Houston, TX -- President of HSW Financial talks with Raven Blair Davis aka The Talk Show Maven on Careers From the Kitchen Table about the changing face of the Commercial Debt Buyer.

In a time when the economy is in distress and many people are in need of cash, you might not have thought about utilizing a commercial debt buyer. Michelle Rodriguez will share what some of the advantages are when using the services of an institutional commercial debt buyer to increase liquidity, improve performance and generating an enhanced return on investment.

Michelle states, "Having worked in capital markets for more than 13 years, it has been my experience that average companies focus on managing risk, successful companies focus more on maximizing opportunities than managing risk. But the best companies are able to do both by consistently exploiting opportunities in a risk managed environment... enter the institutional commercial debt buyer".

Later in the show, you will hear Hip Hop Mogul, Russell Simmons discuss how he started as a business owner as well as his philosophy on starting a business. He shares about the importance of mindset as a person that works for someone else and as a business owner. Russell Simmons makes it plain with the Talk Show Maven about what the world needs.
